$300,000 Voted to Pay the Roach Claim and a Railway Postal Service Reclassification Plan Adopted.

OVER 100 PENSION MEASURES

RUSHED THROUGH DESPITE A WAIL FROM POPULIST ALLEN.

Resolutions Passed Asking for Information Concerning the Nicaragua Canal and the Pacific _ ailroads.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.-The Senate confined itself strictly to business to-day, passing a large number of bills, including those for a statue of President Lincoln at Gettysburg. Pa., appropriating $300,000 to pay one of the old claims of the late John Roach for use of his ship yards and reclassifying the railway postal service. Over one hundred private pension bills were passed during the day, thus clearing the calendar.

At the opening of the session a resolution by Mr. Morgan was agreed to requesting the President for all correspondence of the Nicaragua canal since 1887; also a resolution by Mr. Allen asking the attorney general for information as to the reported Pacific railroad settlement between the executive authorities and the reorganization committee of the road. The resolution follows: "Resolved, That the attorney general be and he is hereby directed to inform the Senate whether he has entered into an agreement or stipulation with what is committee of the Union Pacific Railroad respecting the foreclosure of the government lien thereon and the amount, if any such agreement or stipulation has been made, said reorganization committee is to bid in the event of the foreclosure of said lien; and also send to the Senate the full text of such agreement or stipulation, together with the names of the persons comprising the reorganization committee as well as the authority he may have for beginning such foreclosure proceedings, or entering into any such agreement or stipulation."

The Senate then turned to the calendar and passed a number of bills. The bills passed included the following: To refund to Ames & Detrick, of San Francisco, Cal., drawbacks on grain bags exported in 1882; appropriating $15,000 for the heirs of the Italians killed by mob violence at Walsenburg., Col., in March, 1895; granting a lifesaving medal to Daniel E. Lynn, of Port Huron, Mich.; appropriating $30,000 for esablishing a lighthouse on Swan island, beonging to the United States, in the Carbbean sea; establishing a life saving station at Fort Gratiot, Mich.

Mr. Morgan secured recognition at this point and presented a resolution requesting the President for all correspondence relating to the Nicaragua canal since 1887 between the United States and any minister or representative of Nicaragua Mr. Hill was disposed to object to the immediate adoption of the resolution, saywas about to explain that the resolution applied to the letter of Minister Rodriguez, read to the Senate yesterday, when Mr. Hill withdrew his objection and the resolution Returning to the calendar, the Senate passed the bill to reclassify railway postal lerks and prescribe their salaries. The bill fixes the following classes and salaries: First class, not exceeding $800; second class, $900; third class, $1,000; fourth class, $1,100; fifth class, $1,200; sixth class, $1,300; seventh class, $1,400; eighth class, $1,500; ninth class,

The following bills were also passed:

$1,600; tenth class, $1,800.

Authorizing the President to promote Col. Henry L. Abbott, United States army, retired, to the rank of brigadier general, retired; transferring Lieut, Jerome E. Morse, United States navy, to the 75 per cent, pay list of retired officers; authorizing a railmaterial, dockage and detention and occupation of yards and shops for the gunboats Chicago, Boston and Atlanta; appropriating $23,900 to the owners of the Hawaiian bark Arctic; providing for a publie building at Tampa, Fla., no appropriation; appropriating $5,000 to the Cumberland Female College, McMinnville, Tenn., for use of buildings during the civil war; for the examination and classification of certain lands in Oregon and appropriating $50,000; appropriating $8,000 to Messrs, Rhea and Anderson for cotton used by the Union forces during the war. All of the foregoing were Senate bills, which will now go to the House for its action.

The Senate then took up the pension calendar. It soon brought out a speech from were made in the amounts given by these pension bills. He declared this distinction had become a "stench smelling to heaven, so that the man in the moon must hold his nose while passing over the Senate cham-

Senator Chandler said he did not propose to press his amendment. Mr. J. S. Ogilvie denied the assertion which had been made at the meeting last Saturday that some of his publications were indecent. He asserted that the government was under an implied contract with the publishers to maintain present rates. Yates Hickey, of the American Railway Literary Association, favored the bill. RIOTOUS ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY STU-DENTS WILL BE PUNISHED.

Every One Connected with the Throwing of Chemicals May Be Expelled -Miss Radebaugh's Condition.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 23.-Miss Della Radebaugh is still in a dangerous condition at her home in this city. It was she who was thought to have lost the sight of her eyes from chemicals thrown by an unknown student in the mob of sophomores and other high classmen which surrounded Busey's Opera House in Urbana Thursday night in an effort to break up a sociable being held by the freshmen class of the University of Illinois. Miss Radebaugh still suffers intense pain. Both eyes are swollen shut and are greatly inflamed, and the physicians say they cannot tell how serious the injury will prove to be. Her friends are greatly incensed over the affair, and say they will use every means to bring to justice the young man who threw the terrible

H. L. Pease, of Malta, a student who was in the thickest of the riot, was placed under arrest last night on the charge of being the man who threw the chemicals. Police officers have identified Pease as the man who did the work, but his friends claim they can prove that he was not in the street at the time. The university authorities have joined with Mayor Hubbard and the Urbana officials, and every effort will made to bring into the hands of the law all students who took an active part in the riot. It is said that they have the names of at least twenty-five students who are known to have been participants, and some startling developments are expected. It is supposed that each of them will be expelled from the university, never to return.

The council of administration, composed of the deans of the different colleges of the University of Illinois, held a secret conference yesterday. They deliberated for more than an hour, and it is pretty generally understood that the university has entered upon a campaign against a repetition of the affair. President Draper does not hesitate to speak severely of the students who are connected with the riot. He says:

"The affair of Thursday night between the sophomores and freshmen is very much ing it ought to be examined. Mr. Morgan to be regretted, particularly because of the Both classes are at fault. If there had been not likely that it would have been seriously interfered with. The freshmen violated an as compared with the October statements. understanding with me that there should be no secreey. They were assured by me weeks give them a room, and offered them protection for their banquet. They seem to have preferred to invite a contest. The sophomores, who undertook to break up the gathering, and particularly the ones who threw a noxious and dangerous chemical, and the ones who resisted the police, violated the laws, and students who violate the laws should be punished like other people who violate them.

The university authorities cannot undertake to preserve the public peace. That deuniversity authorities will deny university privileges to any students who are proved to have been guilty of conduct prejudicial to the interests of the university, and they will give all possible support to the officers of the law who are energetic in the discharge of their duty. In this connection I cannot refrain from expressing my regret that when students misbehave there is such officials and the people to treat the matter lightly. The common interests of all concerned demand that we should draw the line rigidly between right and wrong, shall give all encouragement to harmless sport and lay censure and punishment upon vicious conduct, even under the guise of sport. The university looks to the substantial sentiment which is prevalent in every community to sustain the right and punish the wrong, where students are, as well as stituted for service at this outlying station, where other people are involved; and the Such an official will, it is said, be able to fidence to the sense of right which is always found in a student body, after time for reflection, to rise above such disagreeable affairs as that inflicted upon us last

The student body was called into convocation in the university chapel yesterday, and were addressed by President Draper He told them that he was grieved over their conduct, and he wanted it understood that every man who was connected with the disgraceful affair should be expelled from the institution never to return. He said that the names of a number of them were hours they would be in the hands of the law. He said that it must be thoroughly understood that such work would not be tolerated at the university.

Harvard Students Aroused. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 23.-The proposed abolition of the scrimmage about the tree on class day was the sole topic of discussion at Harvard to-day, not only among the members of the senior class, but throughout the whole university. Nothing for years among the various prohibitions and abolishments which the faculty have attempted to cary out has caused such general indignation. On Monday or Tuesday evening mass meetings will be held by all four classes to protest against the decision taken by the corporation. It has been urged by several prominent members of the senior class that in case the corporation should insist in its position the class day committee should resign and give up class day entirely. So great is the feeling and so much pressure will be brought to bear in the matter that it is likely that the corporation will finally give in

BRECKINRIDGE'S DAUGHTER

Admitted to Practice Before the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 23.-Miss Sophonisba P. Breckinridge, daughter of Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, was admitted to the bar by examination of the Court of Appeals last evening. Miss Breckinridge came to Frankfort yesterday morning accompanied by her brother Desha. She notified the court and the examination took place before four members of the court. Afterward she received her certificate. One of the judges expressed the opinion that Miss Breckinridge had stood the best examination ever heard before the court, and that she was thoroughly versed in the law. The examination lasted half an hour. Miss Breckinridge is the first woman examined by this court and admitted to practice in the Court of Appeals. She was educated at A. and M. College, Lexington. Ky., and spent several years in Paris studying French and Roman law. She expressed surprise that the court examination was so easy.

There is plenty of time for the committee to change its mind, but the indications are that it will remain stubborn out their threat of overriding the committee and speaker and taking a day or two by sheer force of numbers. The mere fact that six-sevenths of the members of the House signed a petition for a public building bill day is not of itself so very terrifying. It is one thing to get signatures to petition and quite a different proposition for those who sign it to enter into open revolt against the House organization. Still, there are forces which, if properly handled, could successfully organize a movement to take the reins out of the speaker's hands, lieve that the new position assumed by the but it remains to be seen whether a leader who is equal to the emergency will come to before quoted."

Its Effect on the Nicaragua Canal Bill and Anglo-American Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 .- Senators generally realize that the communication of Minister Rodriguez in regard to the Nicaragua canal franchise, which was sent to the Senate yesterday, is liable to have immediate effect not only on the canal bill, and give the members a chance to carry but also upon other pending and probable legislation, including the general Anglo-American arbitration treaty. Senators generally express the opinion that the first consequence will be to send the bill back to the committee on foreign relations. It is a matter of conjecture how long the bill will remain in the committee if recommitted, but in that event it is not considered probable that it could be reported in time to be considered during the present session.

Quite as important as the effect on the Nicaragua bill itself is the influence which he communication is likely to have upon the arbitration treaty. Many senators bethose who hold this belief to stand aloof from any alliance with England. Members of the committee on foreign relations freely expless the opinion in private conversation that the effect of the communication special meeting Monday to take up the

The contemplated amendments would provide, among other things, for securing to Nicaragua the contract percentage of stock and for the proper representation of that country upon the board of directors. It is believed that this motion will be made by Senator Vilas.

When the time for making settlement for 1893 arrived the secretary refused to enter into a compromise, as had been done the previous year, but demanded the full amount due under he contract, and upon the company's refusal to pay it brought suit therefor, and also for the difference between the amount paid and $132,654 per year for the three prior years. The decision gave the government $94,687 per annum, but the case was appealed by the company. The secretary says he seriously considered the advisability of canceling the lease, but concluded he would not be justified in so doing so long as the dispute is pending in the courts.

Head and Entire Body Covered. Itching Intense, Would Scratch Till Blood Came.

Had to Put Mittens on His Hands To Keep Him from Tearing His Skin.

One Application of CUTICURA Soothes Him to Sleep. Complete Cure.

When my little boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body, and he got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin, yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. -I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin around his wrists. He got so weak and run down that he took fainting spells like we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton, and his little hands

He was bad about eight months when we tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the day time for a long time. He had got so that he just sleps in our arms all the time. I washed him with CUTICURA SOAP, and put on one application of CUTICURA, and he was so soothed that I put him in his cradle. You don't know how glad I felt he felt better. It took one box of CUTICURA, pretty near one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and about half a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT to cure him. I think our little boy would have died only for Curicura REM-EDIES, and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. Mrs. M. C. MAITLAND, Jasper, Ont.
